BROUGET HOME THE BODY. Remains of Isaac P. Gray Taken to Union

City, Ind., I or Interment. Indianapolis, Feb. 21.—The body of ter to Mexico and formerly governor of Indiana, arrived in the Union station at 8 a. m. As the train bearing the remains pulled into the station a minister's salute of 17 guns was fired. The train consisted of a baggage car and a Pullman sleeper. In the center of the baggage car, in the coffin enclosed in a rade box, rested the body of the dead minister. Mrs. Grav and Bayard Gray, her son, arrived in the sleeper. Fully 1,000 people crowded up to the iron railings north of the tracks and eyed the train curiously. Inside the railing were train and railroad officials and the officers of the Indianapolis Light artillery. As soon as the train came to a halt it was taken in charge by the light artillery and a watch was placed on the funeral car. There was no attempt to decorate or drape the car. In the middle of the car, between the two side doors, rested the box containing the coffin. It was almost entirely covered with wreaths and flowers, giving out a strong, pungent odor, and all dead and

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.-A few members of the house whose terms of office will expire on the 4th of March are supposed to be willing to accept the office of minister to Mexico if President Cleveland should see fit to tender it to them. Several of them are making active efforts to secure the appointment, while others who desire it are merely standing where the lightning may strike them. TRIALS OF A TICKET MAN.

He Can Endure All but the Questions of People Who Never Travel. prominent Pittsburg passenger agent, in a conversation with a reporter of that city, gave a few interesting facts relative to the everyday experience of the average city passenger man, which those not directly connected with the business know nothing about. He said.

"It is a singular fact the number of people who visit our office daily and the curious questions they ask with regard to railroad rates, etc., when very often they have no notion whatever of leaving the city and as a matter of fact have not traveled any worth mentioning. For six years there has been a very singular character who has made an annual visit to this office. I have no idea from whence he cometh or whither he goeth, but he always asks the selfsame questions and goes away apparently satisfied with the information he has received. I always expect him in the springtime, generally about the 1st of April, when the sun's rays grow warmer.

"Then my quaint old friend comes to see me. I should judge him to be at least 80 years of age. He is stooped and feeble, with hair as white as snow, but well dressed, wears a silk hat and carries a cane and talks in a nervous, jerky manner. He invariably opens up with 'What's the rate to Boston?' I tell him and his eyes light up as he waddles out the heavy the and pservation. 'Well by gum, that's cheap! theap!' If the old man would tell his story, it might have a tinge of pity in it. Perhaps he has s son or daughter in the Hub City whom it has been his cherished hope to see for all "The biggest out and out nuisance we have to deal with are persons who come here with no other intention than to collect all the railroad literature they can. They have no notion of going away, but thay grab everything in sight in the way of time tables and other information bearing on tourists' points in the north east, south and west. They greedily gather pamphlets, circulars and booklets treating on climate and resources. I don't know what these collectors dc with the stuff they get here, but some of them must have a prize assortment.

"Then the man who travels from one end of the country to the other is the person who invariably pushes into the office and in a brusk manner asks for a time table of the line he is about to take. It is given him, of course, and without so much as glancing at the schedule it is stuffed into his pocket, and his next question is, 'When does my first train leave?' It never seems to occur to him to look on the time table. So it goes. Sometimes people ask me ques-tions until I'm afraid the buttons will drop off my coat, but after all we manage to get along with our patrons remarkably well."-Pittsburg Post.

A Biblical Conundrum.

A good story is told of the horsy son of an English clergyman. He was on an important occasion to meet the bishop of Lincoln at dinner, and as it was desirable that a favorable impression should be made on his lordship his father begged he would be favorable to the bishor and do his best to draw him out, as he was unusually strong in Biblical lore. During the early part of the banquet matters went on well es righ, the young man saying little, but watching for an opportunity to open his full batteries. At length a pause in the general conversation took place, and while the company was all attention he thus addressed the bishop:

"Might I venture to ask your lordship a question relative to a point mentioned in the Old Testament which has puzzled me a good deal?" "Oh, certainly-quite happy," replied the dignitary, feeling quite in his ele-

Nervous Singers, The effects of nervousness are varied and amusing. One-young mezzo soprano was prevented just in time from walking on to the platform in a huge pair of fur lined overshoes, which were put on above her slippers, and which contrasted comically with her dainty gown. Another songstress, who was gifted with a good verbal memory, was singing without note. During a rather elaborate symphony preceding the second verse of her song she chanced idly to glance at the book of words which she was holding. Confusion followed. She could not link the melody with the poem. It was a terrible moment, but she stepped swiftly to the piano, glanced at the accompanist's copy and finished her song con amore. It appeared on inspection that by a printer's error two lines of her song had been left out of the book of words. This had confused her and was the cause return President Grant appointed him the Bank of Superior, which was closed of her failure to blend words and music together.-Atalanta.

The Young Moon.

The editor of The Popular Science Monthly takes certain imaginative writers to task for their unscientific and absurd statements regarding "the young moon" and "the crescent moon" and advises them to leave it alone, because they so often contrive to get it in the wrong place. In a story which has come under his notice he finds two friends described as sitting out one summer evening looking over the Thames, and the writer goes on to say, "By this time the young moon had arisen, and its cold light shimmered over the misty river." Such writers are reminded that the young moon goes to bed early and can never be seen in the EURPHRETS HED. CO., 111 & 118 WILLIAM St., New York. process of rising.

Palmy Days For Cats. The palmy days for cats were in the times of Egypt's power as a nation, some 500 years B. C. They were held then as sacred as dogs or crocodiles, and death was the penalty for killing them. From their nocturnal habits and glossy fur, the Egyptians deemed them symbolical of the moon, and a golden cat was worshiped at Syene.-New York Sun.
